

TERRACE FEATURING ELEVATE

Elevate

Good design responds to the needs of its environment. Excellent design propels an environment forward, infusing it with new energy, functional innovation and forward-thinking creativity. Before Elevate, designers were often forced to choose between a dining ensemble and an outdoor lounge grouping. Most dining furniture is not comfortable enough for extended solitary or group work, and lounge furniture is typically too low to support a working posture or collaboration with digital or analog tools and materials.

A swell of residential and hospitality influence on commercial and institutional designs had already begun to dissolve our spaces into something new in 2019. Then, months of isolation and remote work reminded us what we really needed to be our best: We just need each other, and good tools that work properly.

The casual, cooperative, mobile-work, posture-friendly, familiar face we were already seeking has arrived and is expertly appointed to gather us outside for work, study, and relaxation. All at once.

How to Spec Arm Rest Tables

1. Select Your Unit

2. Determine Arm Side Needed

Left or Right Hand Sitting*

3. Installation

Table and Drink Rail metal supports will be factory-installed. Tops will require field installation.

Things To Note

1. Backless units can only receive "End Arm Tables".
2. End Arm Tables can be specified on all units. For multiple groupings, End Arm Tables should bookend the complete set. They are not designed to wedge between units.
3. Wedge, Wedge Swivel, UPH Arm, and UPH Arm w/Table can only be used between two units - these tables are not designed to visually bookend a unit or grouping.
4. Purchase orders must specify what product receives the attached arm rest / wedge table. See below.

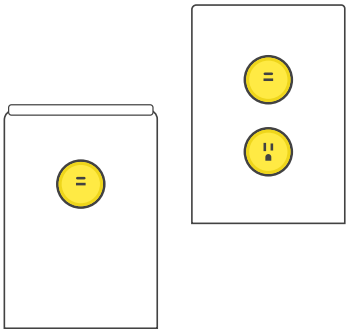

Example:

Inside 45
With Left Hand Sit
Upholstered Arm

Power Options
